

CARA School Survey

FACT SHEET

Why a CARA School Survey?

Attaining academic excellence and keeping students enrolled are key objectives of any school. Parents have many school options and understanding what drives their enrollment decisions is critical. Learning about parent perceptions regarding your curriculum of instruction, your menu of extracurricular activities, and your school facilities are important in the immediate future, as well as providing you with valuable information for future planning. Likewise, providing your faculty and staff with constructive feedback aids in their professional development.

How It Works

CARA School Survey are conducted confidentially online by CARA, who will tabulate the results and prepare a full report for your school leadership. Working with the CARA Schools Team, you identify questions you would like to ask of parents. You begin with the CARA School Question Database, which contains nearly 300 questions from which to choose. CARA can prepare questions on other topics as well. Once you've selected your questions, CARA prepares the survey for your review and sends you a link to share with your parents and other constituents. Respondents visit our confidential survey center online to complete their surveys. Ten weeks after survey completion, you receive a detailed report of the findings. You choose how to present the findings to your school employees, parents, diocese, donors, and others. We often find that conducting a CARA School Survey ignites parent and donor interest in evaluating future school needs and can serve as a jumping off point for strategic plan development.

What's Included

The Basic School Survey includes up to 100 closed-ended questions that gauge parents' opinions about school services as well as assess their needs. You may also add options for open-ended questions and subgroup analyses – both of which give you a more refined level of feedback. (See our Services and Prices on other side of this sheet.)
